Living costs

A student in Düsseldorf needs approx. € 900 per month, but of course it depends on where he/she lives as well as on individual lifestyle choices.

Tuition fees

At HHU, there is no tuition fee for study programmes. However, the so-called “semester fee” (approx. € 300) is a compulsory charge all students pay each semester, which allows them to use the public transportation all over North Rhine-Westphalia and gives them access to the University’s restaurant facilities.

Study programmes

In order to be able to participate in a German study programme, a language level of at least C1 is required.

In various study programmes several lectures are held in English, mainly at the Faculty of Business Administration and Economics.

All general information on application and admission procedures at HHU can be found on the HHU homepage under “Student Services Centre”. Any specific information of the study programmes is available under www.hhu.de/programmes.

As primary and central point of contact, the Student Services Centre (SSC) offers a wide range of services for degree-seeking students whereas exchange students contact the International Office.

Why Düsseldorf is an excellent place to study

Düsseldorf and the North Rhine-Westphalia region

Düsseldorf is the state capital of North Rhine-Westphalia. With a population of 635,000, it is one of Europe's leading economic centres. Other cities in North Rhine-Westphalia like Köln, Bochum, Aachen etc. are easily accessible by public transport. The student ID card enables you to use all public means of transport – except for intercity and eurocity trains – in the whole State of North Rhine-Westphalia and thus connects you with 18 million people. It is valid for one term at a time (April to September and October to March) and is being issued to all registered students and doctoral researchers of HHU.

Safety and recreation

North Rhine-Westphalia's capital city is a lively and modern thus safe city with a lot to offer in terms of culture. Whatever you fancy – a drink in the Old Town, a barbecue down by the Rhine, a dinner in one of the exquisite Japanese restaurants or a visit to the theatre, opera or a concert – Düsseldorf has it. There is something for everyone: From offbeat to mainstream or sophisticated. If you want to get away from all the hustle and bustle, there are lots of open spaces, such as the “Volksgarten” park or Paradise Beach (“Paradiesstrand”) for picnics and barbecues with your friends or simply to relax and unwind.

Easy to reach

Düsseldorf Airport is one of the most modern airports in the world and easily reached in just 15 minutes from the city centre.

Fashion, shopping and restaurants

This can be seen above all on the Königsallee, fondly known as the “Kö”. The historical Old Town is a particularly popular meeting point for people from all over the world. Above all students like to hang out in the “world’s longest bar” – the 260 restaurants etc. have produced a very colourful cultural scene and there is always something going on in the winding alleyways. The Rhine Embankment Promenade nearby leads to Media Harbour with an ensemble of buildings by famous international architects. Media Harbour is a hip place to go. Inviting bars, bistros and restaurants are open well into the night for coffee, ice-cold beer, cocktails and culinary delights.

Museums, exhibitions and concerts

The Art Academy as well as over two dozen museums and exhibition venues, Benrath Palace, “Düsseldorfer Schauspielhaus” theatre, “Deutsche Oper am Rhein” opera house, “Tonhalle” concert hall, over a hundred galleries, countless stages, revues and variety theatres make Düsseldorf an acknowledged cultural metropolis. Major events each year, including Japan Day Düsseldorf/NRW, the Rhine’s largest funfair, the Christmas Market, the Jazz Rally and many international trade exhibitions, attract hundreds of thousands of visitors.
